When I was at highschool I used to work and study mainly in team with some of my classmates. I believed, and i still do it, that people who work in team work better because everyone has his own konwledge and abilities that are unique and help the team to build something special.

If I had to thik about two my strong points, I would say creative and curious. Creative because I think that creativity is a strong push towards innovation, curious because curiosity is the engine that makes people learn and pushes them to overcome their limits.

(see the final page for core quadrant diagrams)

Unfortunately I have also some weaker points, that I hope this project will fix at least a little.
First of all I'm shy and sometimes this stops me from sharing my ideas with my team mates, leading us to lose a possible intresting idea.
Secondly, I'm not a well organized worker, usually when I study I don't make a plan, I just study until I finish. This can be viewed as perseverance, which is good, but I need to find a tradeoff in order to work as weel as possible with my team.

My learning goal for this project is to overcome my weaker points in order to get used to work well in a professional team. I'm consciouss that this is a difficult goal to reach, and therefore it will be a long and hard path, but I'm ready to start it.
This goal is important to me bacause nowadays teamwork is one of the most required features in the work field, so I want to be ready for it.

I'm currently working to achieve this goal and I must say that TU Delft is helping me a lot, in fact I've taken part to many group assigments since I started my studies, and these experiences helped me growing exponentially.
For instance, one thing that I improved substantially is my knownledge and ability in English, which makes me more participatory in the team.

Right now I found myself in front of a wonderful opportunity to reach my goal, I just need to do well with my team and try to use every experience in order to develop personally.
What can stop me from reaching my goal are my downsides that I mentioned before. What I need to do now is to focus on my goal and to let my team mates to help me.

My action plan is the following:

  1- I'm gonna interact as much as possible with my team mates.

2- I'm gonna observe them and I'm gonna think about what qualities I could make mine.

3- I'm gonna spend a lot of time working on this project in order to get used to work hard and well in a professional team.

```
        creative ──── Going too far ────► Counter-productive

   creative ──── Good supplement ────► productive

   Experiences as difficult (Not being a team ──► creative)

   Counter-productive ──── Positive opposite ────► productive productive ──── Going too far ────► Not being a team

```

creative

Going too far

Counter-productive

Good supplement

Experiences as difficult

Positive opposite

Not being a team

Going too far

productive

---

curious

Going too far

annoying

Good supplement

Experiences as difficult

Positive opposite

unproductive

Going too far quiet